

SIGHTWORDS.com

Corrections Procedure

When a child makes a mistake reading a sight word, you need to correct them on the spot. If you wait until later, the correction is less likely to “stick” in the child’s memory. Print out this script and be sure to have it with you every time you do a sight words lesson or game.

ADULT: That word is should. What word?

CHILD: Should.

ADULT: Again. What word?

CHILD: Should.

ADULT: Yes, should!

We should brush our teeth before bed.

What word?

CHILD: Should.

After the correction, simply continue with the activity.